LOUISVILLE JOURNAL PRENTICE, HENDERSON, & OSBORNE,

GEORGE D. PRENTICE, SUBSCRIPTIONS BY MAIL-IN ADVANCE:

SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, 1866. THE LATE PROPOSED AMENDMENT OF OUR CITY CHARTER.

MARTIN BIJLE, IN THE HOUSE OF REPRIS

SERTIN BIJUE. IN THE HOUSE OF REPRINSPRATIVES, JAN. 3, 1885.

Mr. Spraker: Permit me to solicit your attention to a surject apparently focal, but in fact concerning your whole State. I speak in the Lame of a city which contains probably one-seventh of the population and plays one sixtin of the taxes of the Commonweath. I speak in behalf of principles upon the maintenance of which rest the American system of government. The history of the controversy which gives rise to this ciscussion is embraced in a petiod of not much more than a year. The city of Louisville a little more than twelve months ago, through her representatives, the General Council, deeming it wise to imaggrate a street railway youngh her representatives, the General Council, deeming it wise to imaggrate a street railway system, granted the franchise to the City Railway Company to build and matage in the principal streets of the city (usming the streets) railroads for the accommonation of passengers and for the profit of the managers. The roads were built and in success, both as regarded the interests of the city and the profits of the enterprise, exceeded all expectation. Branch roads were built, new avenues were opened, all under the original grant, and with the expansion of the system expanded the benefit and the profit. It was but natural that ench success should have simulated rival enterprise on the part of capital, and it was not less natural that it should have simulated the citizento to a desire to see the system extended as far as was compatible with the interests of the city. These causes combined induced as new company to apply for the franchise to build a Market Street Karfoad, and for the General Connell to grant it. It it was reged by the Conpany already in operation, that their interests were sacrificed by the creation of a rivel, it was reged in response that so mag-SENTATIVES, JAN. 4, 15 4, pany with the immediate and incidental innuerous of their employes, almost placed the munclepal control of the city into their hands and thus endangered her best interests. Both compaties derived their grants from the same source, the General Council of the city of Louisville, both companies must rely for their existence upon the same patrons, the Crisers of Louisville. In the grant to this last company and the refusal of the Mayor to execute the contract sites he had veloed it and after it had passed over his veto originated the feud which resolted in his removal and in the election of the present encumbeat of the office of Mayor of the city. I shall not inquire into the sufficiency of causes which led to that result, we are not eliting here as a Count of Appeals, to serntinize the judgment of that Court, which deposed has or Tomppert upon a writ of error. If it be argued by gentlemen advocating the amendment, that we ought to make the Mayor reeligible, because he has no remedy by appeal, I answer them, that in the very nature of the thing there can be no appeal from any impeachment, because an appeal would necessarily stay the removal and true defeat the very object and effect of a successful impeachment.

It is easifice out for our purpose to know, that by the Charterof the City of Louisville, by the naw which you have enacted, under the provisions under which Mr. Tomppert entered and count which Mr. Tomppert entered and If the Legislature will do it this time, why not texercise that prerogative at any time when a m jordy here finds itself in sympathy with a deteated minority there? Every election in which a large minority would desire to try its chances in a new struggle would furned an argument as tenable as this for the deposition of the incumbent and for a new election. Establish such a precedent and you have buried in a common grave the freedom of a city and the onmon grave the freedom of a city and the crinciple upon which freedom rests.

The gendeman from Ohlo attaches great importance to the large public meeting which requested the amendment. I do not yield in re-against the amendment. And, Mr. Speaker, were I beseeched by ten times as many people as assembled in that Cenrt house to support the amendment, I should still feel called upon to appose it with all the feeble efforts which I can make. The gentleman argues with great plantable to the lap of the people for them to distibility that be is in favor of throwing the question into the lap of the people for them to distibility that is so verrooked the distinctive feature of our freedom, he has mistaken our representative for purely democratic institutions. If his reason to sound, as establishing the formal distinctive for great plantable for the people for them to distinct the sound of the people for them to distinct the formal distinctive feature of our freedom, he has mistaken our representative for purely democratic institutions. If his reason to sound, as establishing the formal distinctive for purely democratic institutions.

Mr. Speaker accept my thanks for your kind SPIECE OF GEO. R. FEARONS, ESQ., BEFORE THE SENATE OF KENTICKY, IN THE CON-TESTED CASE OF FEARONS AGAINST BAKES;

JANUARY 28, 1866. Coincil Fearons said:

Mr. Speaker and Honorable Senators:

For the courtesy extended to me, and through me to those men in Campbell connty that, not on account of any ability I possess, chose me as their standard-bearer, and for whom they intended to vote. I thank yon most sincerely; and it is the proudest day in my life—which has not been a very short one—that I have the honor of addressing the Senate of Kentneky. When I strink of the mighty, the flinstrions, names whose voices have been heard in this Senate (Chamber—when I think of the living men that are still ready to stand by the Fight—I am almost taken aback in presuming to address the body that has been addressed by Henry Clay. I say I feel great diffidence in approaching this subject. But, Senatora, there is a question involved in these contested election cases that is not an individuel one. If this were a matter of individual interest and character, that is simply touched moself, I would not be heard here to-day before this angust body. But I can show that the very principles apon which our great superstructure of human freedom rests, has been attacked in my person and in the person of their rights as American clitzens, and by the ballot-box express their wishes freely and untrammeicd. I will say here that I have no objection to soiders, or to their being armed, to originally the enemies of their conntry, but not to overswe its fileads; I have no objection to soiders, or to their being armed, to objection to their having maskets in their hands, with those sharp things on the top, and forty reunds of ammunition in their cartridge-boxes. To that I am opposed. I tall yon, Sensaters, that if the rights of citizens can be stricken down with impunity, it will not be long before he will attack my rights, it will not be long before he will attack my rights, it will not be long before he will attack my rights it twill not be long before he will attack my rights it will not be long before he will attack my rights it will not be long before he will attack my rig Colonel Fearons said: fr. The gentleman from Onlo attaches great importance to the large public meeting which requested the amendancent. It is this: He states that I have cared into an agreement that I would not take no finither depositions in relation to the seniorial contest in Campbell county than those paken of before, and then, in deflance and in engation of that agreement, that I had gone not taken proof in that case, and brought it in effort the honorable committee. I will read a agreement, which is as follows: it is agreed between the parties to the pending considered election for Sentar from the 5th Sentardal Dissided election for Sentar from the 5th Sentardal sact class of men who ought to be desired the privilege of voting.

New, sir, retus stop here, and make the inquiry, Why was it that soldiers were sent into the countries of Pencileon and Campbell? At the Artist election, in 1851 the party that it contained what was fermed the "Union party of the blook to belong to rain a candidate of the blook to be specified as sacriff in the country of Cambell? At was to be expected in the next clee ion. That was a fair war ing of what was to be expected in the next clee ion. That was to be expected to the next clee ion. That was to be expected in the next clee ion. That was to be expected in the next clee ion. That was to be expected in the next clee ion. That was the next then the next clee ion. That was the next then the next clee ion. That was the next then the next clee ion. That was the next then the next clee ion. That was the next then the next th purpose of protecting the tremendous majority of the Senator? I don't believe, however, that my triend Baker would have tolerated these thirgs. I know him too well. I believe that had he known that there were to be armed soldiers of the public armed soldiers. diers at the poils he would have raised his voice against it; but he is like poor dog Tray; he must take the consequences of the company that he was in. There is no mistake about the fact that these additions were mistake about the he most take the consequences of the company that be was in. There is no mistake about the fact that these soldiers were acting for him, and acting against me; and when I say me, I mean the lanty with which I am connected. In the second preciuct there were also difteen armed soldiers with their forty rounds of ammunition in their cartridge, boxes. To this fact their Captain swore—the men who had command over them. Now, I ask what were these thirty soldiers armed and sent to Newport for? Was it for the purpose of seenring a quiet election in the city of Newport? Here they had seven hundred majority, according to my friend, and yet (turning to Mr. Baker) you needed thirty soldiers to protect you in your rights. Why was it that the milistry was spread over all the preciuet? Was there not a loval precinct in the district? The contry of Pendicton sent upward of usine bundred soldiers to the Union army. Who was it they wanted to protect? The old men they would not allow to vote. It was said that they would not allow to vote. It was said that they would not allow to vote. It was said that they would not allow to vote. It was said that they sympathized with the South. Who was it, then, they wanted to project? At the Two-mile House, in the city of Newport, there was a man named Adam Weaver. He had been engaged in the very fashionable business of dressing hair lefore he went into the army. He was not allowed to vote. There was also at the Two-mile House William McGrev, who is nipward of fifty years of age, and had always voted in that precinct, and was a voter—the qualified eherilf of the election, and occupied that position up to noon of that da—and this high and mighty man told the sheriff of the election that he miss the miss leave the polls; that he would put an agame of cards with his friends he is a gambier? What is a gambier? A gambier is a man that makes his living by that profession. I felt that the reterence to this matter was a breach of candidate. The facts are, in brief, that my liend Cormack, when engaged in a game of cards in which there was a small amount at take, had turned a card from the bottom of the pack; it was very clumsily done, and easily detected, and as soon as he was detected he acknowledged it, and the money he had wen was spent socially among the friends with whem he was playing. Is that the way the gambier does? The little money that was involved was spent among his friends; he would not pocket it. He has a reputation, a good name; he has children and grandchildren, and I think this explanation is due to him. I do not stand here to defend Mr. Cormack; his own right hand is able to defend him. There are men whose names are signed sherill of the election, and occupied that positien up to noon of that daw—and this high and mighty man told the sheriff of the election that he must leave the polise; that he would put an other man in his place to act for him. He did displace him, and he was driven from his place of Now I will set that off against that, and I think we are about even on that point. Now, I say, I will put it against the majority my friend speaks of against the election of 1861, when we had a feee and fair election, when there were no bayonets, no armed soldlers, no crossing of bayonets at the pelis, nor could a man, as they did in the country of Pendleton, refuse to release a man from airest unless he would take his name off the poli-books. Great God, hiss it come to this, in the prond old State of Kentneky, that hecmen, after having registered their vote, are compelled to have it erased to save themselves from arres! Their vote does not belong to themselves. I hold it belongs to their comtry, and they have no right to barter it, nor give it away at the beck of any man or set of men. The President and Congress are ours.

The Generals are ours, so long as they are they are not our Generals are ours, or our army when they are not our Generals are our army when they are not our Generals are our army when they are him. There are men whose names are signed to that sfildavit who stand as high as any gentlemen in the community.

Sir, we have each things left in this country as elections. How does Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, hold his office? Why is it that he can execute the lawe? That he can pardon men? Is it not by the suffrages of the people of the United States? And if there is not seme shelter thrown around this law by the Legislature of the State, where can we go? Would it have been right for the Legislature, when I was absent from home and could not awend the sitting of the committee, that his case should have been right for the Legislature, when I was absent from home and could not awend the sitting of the committee, that his case should have been decided? I had given Mr. Baker notice that I would contest his election, and I would have done it, If it had cost sil I jetsees or hope to possess on earth. All the time and strength I have would have been freely given before I would have surrendered the right of my people to be heard in this matter. I savithis in jurtice to the American people, that they will rebuke these outrages; and when this question goes be, ck to the people, if I should be a candidate, I have no fears of the result. If my friend is certain of re-election, as he says he is, why does he hesitate ahont surrendering his place here, and trying the race over again? Take away your maskets and your bayonets, and I am not afraid of the consequences. I don't care if his mijority is civen thousand instead of eleven hundred. I go bosek to the time when the race was between McClellan and Lincoin. The vote was cast for McClellan. I put the question, Why were those armed solders there at the expense of the go back to the time when the race was between McClellan and Lincoln. The vote was cast for McClellan. I put the question, Why were those armed soldiers there at the expense of the country and an expense to the dearest feetings of our hearts? They felt that they had the sympathies and votes of a majority of the people of that country. Why was it that they had these soldiers riding through the country? Why was it that old men, who had never thought in their day and generation that they would be driven from the polls, were driven away from them? Now, I never would have contested an election on the ground of military interference. How long I sak, Senators, would it be before they would disperse you from your places here, unless yon pass laws that will sait the dictation of some military commander? How long will the before another Cromwell will be found? Will you, then, rebuke these outrages? Will a Kentucky Senate long debate whether they will be been the content of the country of the

of some military commander! How long will it be before another Cromwell will be found? Will yon, then, rebuke these outrages? Will a Kentucky Sensate long debate whether they will return these elections to the people—whether thy will indorse this military luterference? Military interference? These dast-rdly outrages that have been perpetrated! Will you indorse the tring of mento trees, the trying of their arms and leaving them there as recree-crows, so that those who pass along the road may shrink from coming to the polls? It is adding insult to injury to ask why men did not come up to the polls. They had seen old, gray-beaded men taken from their families and inmured in foreign bastiles, and all over the country your negro jails were almost full of men. Now, I wan't you to take up this testimony and go through it. It is a singular circumstance in this case that there is not a living being that knows who got these soldlers there—ex epit that Green Clay Smith has to father the whole of it. It is a fact that no man will take the responsibility of getting up the lists of names. Now, I ask the Senate if to strike down a few leading men, to take a few of them and put them in your hog-pens, and keep them there to be jeered at by American clitzens, is just. It seems to me that the lightning of heaven would have stricken them dead at such conduct. Must they not have longotten all that belongs to the American character? Must they not then have forgotten that they were ever Kentucky soldiers, when they were mocked and jeered by Captain Read—that Captain who said on a clitzen that he had hung up a hundred better men, and he might hang him before night? Cen you debate now whether my Iriend is entitled to the seat upon this floor he must be your equal. I con't mean equal in talent and physical coarse. He must be equal under the law—an analority of the free enfirages of the people of his Senatorial district. Now the law guarances to every free white mail elize no were twenly one years of age the right to vote, provided he ha

- THE SPERCHES. - The speech of Mr. Fear cus in the contest between himself and Sena-tor Baker, now sending in the Senate, is an able one, and will be read with interest. We shall publish Mr. Baker's response.

We call special attention to the excelle speech of Hon. Martin Bjur. It is highly eredoble to his fine intellect, presenting an over whelming argument against the lately pro-

DENT .- There ought to be popular meeting held in every county, village, and city in the West and South and North in support of the President in his great struggle with D.sanion. He needs the popular sympathy. It would vasily strengthen his hands and chear his heart. If the people approve his course, let them say so plainly and pointedly, in order that both he and Congress may know it. If the people be-lieve that the Union has been dissolved, or if they desire to have it dissolved and the estab lishment of a military government, then let hem say that! If it has come to this, if the war was not for the preservation of the Union and did not preserve it, as the Disunion'ste now Feoretically and practically allege, and if the people are willing to lend their support to this heary and sustain Congress in the course the mejority of that body are purening, let it be claimed to the world through popular assemblages throughout the length and breadth of the land. Let the lines be drawn, and let the President and Congress know numistakably the issue.

does not remember the bltterness with which the Democrat denounced that Convention, and It would be interesting to have the Disunion ists come before the people and tell them that those "certain Democrats," as secessionists who eleven stars have been stricken from the flag had stolen the name of "Democrat," that they of the Republic, have gone out in blood and might the more easily accomplish their treason volution, leaving a dreary blank upon its ble purposes? It is true that the editor of the azure folds. Let them tell the people so, and Democrat afterward became identified with the see what response they will make to it. Espenovers of that Convention, refusing to support cially, let the Disunionists come before the the gubernatorial nominee of the Union Demo ecarred veterans who have poured out their oratic Convention: but he did so, as we under blood like water for the sole purpose of pretood at the time, partly because he was op serving the Union, and distinctly approunce to posed to the nomination of Hon. they suffered in fact an ignominious defeat, and have lost the great object of all their efforts, their endurance, and their patriotism! Let the people everywhere rouse themselve and come forth in their primary assemblages and declare their sentiments. Andrew Johnson needs their support. There never has been n our humble judgment, a more critical period in the history of the great struggle since the ist gun was fired at Fort Samter than now existe, or one in which it was more importan or the voice of the masses to be heard, thundering up from the valleys and echoing along the sides of the mountains to the Federal Cap ital. There are no masters there, but servants. The masters are at home on their farms and ir heir workshops and counting-rooms and mauufactories. Let them come out and command their public agents at Washington. These latter seem to think that they have be solved from all obligations to obey the Constltnilon or to respect the principles upon which our government was founded. They appear determined to make the Constitution bend to their own factious purposes, or to overthrow it altegether if they cannot. This is a Democratic Republic, and, we repeat, the people are

If not done before, it would be a capital idea for the masses of the country, without distin tion of party names, to assemble on the anniversary of Washington's birthday, for the pur pose of making known to the President the sympathies they feel for his patriotic course end to rebuke the traitorous spirit of Disunion whi h has so nnexpectedly dared to raise its snaky head and hies out its venom in the very Capitol of the Republic.

Let the people invoke the spirit of the immortal Father of his Country in this hour of uncertainty and of danger.

The speech of Senator Guthrie in the Journal of yesterday is admirable in tone and temper-moderate, manly, just. It is the speech of a patriot. It breathes conciliation and har-Every word of it is a word for the Union, and for measures calculated to make it perpetual. Ob! that Congress would imbibe the spirit, southing and liberal, of Senator Guthrie and Andrew Johnson. We should soon have a restored Union indeed and in truth. The land would scon bloom again in exuberant joyoueness, trade and business would revive, and every village and neighborhood in the entire South, so recently blasted by the fires of war, would ceho with the songs of industry, peace, and contentment. The whole country would ere long, under the benign influences of such a epirit, present so beautiful and glorious an as-pect, would be so stable, mighty, and so free, that men would feel ashamed that they had ever attempted to bring the horrors of war upou it. "Treason" would thereby be "made odious," and it would remain odious.

occurred at your capital may seem strange, but it is true nevertheless.

I saw him and B. Harria, who left with him not four weeks ago, and learned from him all the hardships that he underwent in leaving this country. He says that no one who has the least regard for truth will say that he was in least regard for truth will say that he was in Ford's Theater on the 14th of April last, and wonders why no one present on that occasion did not pretund to recognize the man that stot Lincoln until they were told that it was him by Laura Keen, his bitter enemy. He did not, however, to me deny or admit that he had done the deed; but stated that no one could truthilly say, of their own knowledge, that it was him. Senator Guthrie exhibits the spirit and dignity, the courteey and liberality, of a Senator of the United States. A Senate means an assembly of aged men, who are supposed to be able to rise above the follies and passions of younger and more inexperienced men. Such a body is supposed to be composed of wise men, who act solely for the peace and welfare of their whole country. There are some men lu the U. S. Senate who are an honor to it, and of the number is our own representative James

THE GRORGIA COLORED CODE. - The Nash ville Union, commenting on the report of the committee to prepare a code for the freedmen of Georgia, says

In one word, this proposed code is simply an rations word, this proposed code is simply an extension to the negroes of the old common law set to person and property. Could these principles, modified to some extent by the provisions of the chapters de libertinis, to be found in the civil law, be digested late a code applicable allies to each of the slave States, the negro question would receive a quietns that would let the whole land be at ease on that point once more. We trust the Legislature of this State will take early action in regard to this matter. It is of vast importance to the welfare and pros-perity of the State. The entire slave code should be at once wiped from our statute-books, and laws simple and clear passed to protect the persons and property of the freedmen. of the State. My own opinion, after mature reflection, is that the laws of this State, applicable to free negroes, are applicable to freedmen. It does not affect the near of relations and reponsibilities, whether his liberty be the result of birth, the act of his master, or other means. The simple matter of inquiry must, in the very nature of things be, is he free? and, if free, the law prescribing the responsibilities, rights, and duties of free negroes applies to him; for, write and talk as we may, the freedman is nothing that a free negro. I hold that the amendment of the Constitution of the United States, although bottsined by frand and force, is now, to all intent and purpose, part of the organic law of the land, and that every good citizen is bound to respect it as such until it is changed in the regular way, or set aside by judicial decision. The unaltriable fact is that slavery exists no longer; and, how much soever we may disapprove the means by which this risult was accomplished, with its the part of patriotism, after entering a schemin protest against such a violent and revolutionary overthrow of our rights, to gratefully accept the present state of things, and, in the future, itsort to gather up the scattered and broken fragments of civil liberty; and, by all the means in our power, restore order, pence, and, so all the constitutions? considerations of policy and patriotism; it is e stiributes to the Legislata:e in reference to the interests of the Commonwealth, and their Zommercual Gold will certainly be at once just in principle and equality they were to be robbed of their representation. He spoke of the injustice of excluding Southern Representatives, whose section of the country has so much interest in the subject, and while claiming that the while is a superior race, he ciposed the efforts to give the black man a share in the Government.

Mr. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, said, as the gentleman charged that the laborers whom he called regrees had been seduced from the border States, he wished to ask whether their relations were not still there in great numbers after taking every negro ont of Kenticky.

Mr. Wade introduced a bill to provide for the improvement of certain harbors in the State of Ohlo. Referred to the Committee on Commerce. It appropriates in round numbers $231,000 for the 1 urpose, including $50 000 for the Clerkeland halbor, $21,000 for Grand river, $241,000 for the Ashtabuta, $29,000 for the Commend, $29,8,000 for the Sanducky, and $15,000 for the Vermillon.

Mr. Peliard, of Vermont, submitted the following resolution, which was adopted:

*Resolved, That the Committee on Finance be chreeted to inquire as to the expediency of provising by law that the directors of banks organized under the authority of the laws of the United States shall give bonds for the faithful performance of their dutles as such directors, and ret ort by bill or otherwise.

Mr. Stewart, of Nevada, introduced a memorial from the citizens of Colorado now in New York asking that Colorado new lone. We state under its present Constitution. Ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Lane, of Md., Introduced a resolution, which was amended, to instruct the Committee on Pensions to inquire into and report upon the expediency of providing by law for the payment of pensions to inquire into and report upon the expediency of providing by law for the payment of pensions to the widows of cullsted inen employed as artificers. ils colleague (Mr. Harding) would have en ightened the House on the question at issue ut he regretted that he had pursued the same ourse as other memora of his party. He had summed the Republican party and seemed to have but one iden, viz: to legislate in favor of e nigro. Mr. McKee held that as above the model of the night of the contribution needed an amendment, but this as denied by those who were opposed to the axions of which of war, and who said that, we had been the contribution of the These who were in favor of amending the Constitution were met by those gentlemen with the cry of usurpation because the Representatives from the rebellions States were not admitted to the floor. He did not desire to see the day when traitors could ask to come back and have the same rights as those who upheld our banner in the field. The pending amendment did not go as far as he desired. He would like one easing that no man who had raised his hand against the flag should ever participate in our regulation, but it was not probable he would be gratified in this Hone. He wanted to legislate for the whole country. It did not appear to his mind that the Southern people were in a condition to be represented in large numbers. He favored the sum dment reported by the Committee on Reconstruction became he thought it was the best we could obtain.

we could obtain.

A colloquy took place between Mr. Grider and Mr. McKee. The former was understood to ask, as peace had returned, why the Southern representatives were not admitted?

Mr. McKee replied if peace did exist, as his colleague had said, he (McKee) could see no reason why they should object to the constitutional amendment, as the party with which his colleague acted, had, during the war, said that that was not the time to amend that instrument. we could obtain.

hat was not the time to amend that instrunent.

Mr. McKee did not believe that peace reigned Except by means of armed power. But while be thought thus he held that it was no less the light than the duty of Congress to make all laws necessary to protect the entire people and secure them in the possession of peace and security in the future. The reason why the Counth was not allowed representatives was that the people had not shown a loyal spirit, reason as would justify their admission. Let them send men here who during the war have red through the negligence or want of skill at foreeight of the officers making applications f each loss; provided that acting officers shall all cases require a schedule and certificate from made by virtue of this act for any loss incurred rior to the 19th of April, 1861.

Mr. Conness, of California, objected that the monet named for compensation was not sufcent.

The bill was passed as excepted by the Naval Narolina.
Mr. Grinder replied he would vote to admit Mr. Grinder replied he would vote to admit representatives of those States which had been reorganized under the plan suggested by the President, provided they presented eredentials showing they were regularly elected, and if so we have no authority to exclude them.

Mr. Kerr, of Indiana, replied to the remarks of Mr. Killer, delivered on the previous day, and denied that Congress had the right or power to go into any State and there regula earlivage so as to secure the right to vote of Committee.

Mr. Howe called up the resolution offered by bim on the 13.h lnet, for the appointment of Provisional Governors in the Southern States.

Mr. Howe replied to the argnments of Mr. Howe replied to the argnments of Mr. Declittle and Johnson against the resolution. He thought it time for the Senate to stop tails, ing to the country, and reason together as to what is best to be done for the nation. There are millions in the South who have the country. power to go into any state and there right enfirage so as to secure the right to voke every citizen of twenty-one years who he lived in any State in the Union. He oppose the adoption of the constitutional amendmen uld not equalize representation. He product to show the power to regulate suffrag cattle, because of their tidelity to the flag ar setitution of the country; these two class med to demand some care and protection alch they had not hitherto received. I them he spoke, fie had thought it belo t. No class or race was to be benefited by Advantage would accure only to the Reican party, should they succeed in obtain hose and all other States. The gent-end om Penns, Ivanis, Mr. Keily, having confr erted his position and read from the debat cuid not make war against a State, he said the valle the prople of a State maintains obedienc o the laws they were not amenable to the wa was far from maintaining that the gentlems from Pennsylvania claimed to have cartione us against the dangers of encroachment on the owers of the Government, but when a State trayed itself against the Government it was onetitution. He pointed out the distinction and by Mr. Madison between the rights of

The first years of the war, Mr. Howe said, were spent in an effort to put down the rebellion, so is not so leave any impression there had been any reballion. We fought saidly. It was the many reballion. We fought saidly. It was the with the joillical organizations of the South nor interfere with slavery. This was for the control of the saidly and th Madleon was scrupnious touching the right of Madison was scrupnious touching the right of spullrage litedif.

Mr. Wright, of Naw Jersey, said that if he urderstood the pending proposition it are contemplated a radical change in the organic law and in the character and questive of the voling population. This continual tinkering of the Constitution was pregnant with danger in the last degree. Its tendency was to the the last degree. It is tendency was to the translate to a collision on negro suffage or equality of races in order that political power nor interfere with clavery. This was for the jurilose of sipealing to the magnanicity of the South, but we tound out afterward there was but one way for making peace, and that was by whipping the, enemies of the country in the lately rebellous States. Mr. Howe quoted from letters and documents to prove what the people of that section were disloyal, and were only kept in a state of obedience by keeping military among them.

Mr. Howe was interrupted by Mr. Connecs, who, in accordance with notice given yesterday, true to have a reconsideration of the vice don't be like bill to enlarge the powers of the Wreedmen's Bureau, so as to enable Mr. Johnson is submitted.

Mr. Enmur hoped no action would be taken the motion of Mr. Conness, except to vote Mr. Johnson said that but for the under-plan of reconstruction, and to force the Southern States to a collision on negro suffrage or equality of races in order that political power may be kept in the hands of the radicals.

He represented a conservative constituence, who were not proposed to sanction universal suffrage. He apprehended that if the Democratic Union parts, were in power in half of the States leaders would not be so anxions to press the resolution to a vote, as now they were in order, that it might be presented for ratification to the Legislature now in session, instead of having a speedy, escenar, and perfect restoration of Union men were here engaged in preventing reconstructrea, which pairlois so much desired. What gly my his views against negro suffrage, he said if adopted citizens are obligated to underroprobation, how much greater necessity was there for the negroes to be educated whose books bad been emancipated, but whose minds were still in bondage.

The House then adjourned until to-morrow.
